

John Desforge is Executive Director for the Singapore-MIT Alliances. John has over 15 years of university experience providing administrative, financial, and legal advice to various academic and research programs. He assisted in the establishment of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) first major international research center and for a premier higher education distance education program at MIT. He holds a Bachelor of Science, Master's of Public Administration and Juris Doctorate Degrees. John is also a member of the Massachusetts Bar.